

HUL 272

- * The Chair represented the power & hierarchy
- * The various holder of power in the episode was Pradhan, Sachiv, groom & his family.
- * Chakke wali kursi as a metaphor and stand-in for power.
- * The Pradhan felt that he had loosened the control over power which the people make him feel.
- * Who wields Power? When?
- * There are various group holding power. Power is static and contextual. ~~Conte~~
- * Because there village is a bride given which is hierarchy lower than bride taken group.
- * The Sachiv assumes power because of the same personal traits as he belongs to city & is educationally ~~he~~ more superior and he speaks English.
- * "Pradhan Pati" → when the female holds the seat in Panchayat but who controls & rules is her husband.
- * Power is situational & contextual; gradients & varieties

- * Pradhan: At an electoral head, but also in a patriarchal set-up where he is bonded in with the bride given
- * Sachiv: urban, educated, English speaking
- * clear b/w official and personal status?
- * Do all men enjoy the same kind of power in patriarchy?
- * insiders vs outsiders: Baratis and Gharatis; bride-takers and bride-givers excepted expectations of certain behaviour
- * ~~Rural~~ Rural vs Urban - "gaon samaj", village sociality and relationships and associated behavior
- * Performance of Power and inequality: everybody is not an equal; power has to be seen
- * ~~The Pradhan asked Prahalad that why~~
- * Inequality is assumed to be true b/w pradhan & sachiv, bride giver & bride taker, men & women
- * In the marriages of north india - women are not assured in the "barat"
- * ~~Also~~ Also everybody does not have equal access to the panchayat property & government facilities.

- * Power is close to the dominant caste -
- * The people close to the Pradhan has more access to the panchayat facilities.
~~They are not~~
- * ~~from~~ Proximity to power
- * Humiliation: waiting, serving; Sachiv's idea of personal status vs How he is perceived as a subordinate in panchayat and as a gharati; "khali" hair
- * Silence and omission: women, caste
- * The groom was offended at Sachiv ~~not~~ told them to wait for 2 min for their "hasta" in response to this he humiliated them. Sachiv is Humiliated.
- * Money is also not equal to power But ~~the~~ Sachiv is not in the position to hold power
- * The village was not self sufficient in terms of marriage, trade (farkauli bazaar).
- * Self sufficiency in political, economic and social self independence which in the series the village was not.

~~The~~ The farokauli bazaar is located outside the village. This dismantles the view of village self sufficiency.
